On Tuplacz's plantation, the generator has broken down and the force field has stopped working. Taking advantage of the situation, the Kule – semi-intelligent beings – have invaded his land. Their goal is to destroy Tuplacz and annihilate the plantation. To prevent this, Tuplacz must repair the force field across forty-eight levels of his estate. The repair involves arranging the damaged generator components in the correct order. Once completed, the field's energy will be restored, and the Kule will be neutralized.

However, Tuplacz's task is complicated by his allergy, which prevents him from touching the plants on his plantation – he can move only along designated paths. Meanwhile, the relentless Kule pursue poor Tuplacz across every area in their destructive frenzy. Without your help, he won't be able to complete his mission!
